

'TWERE VAIN TO TELL

J. A. Wade (1800-1875)

Swiss Air

1. 'Twere vain to tell thee all I feel, — Or say for thee I'd die, or say for
 2. Thou'st oft - en called my voice a bird's, — Whose mu-sic like a spell, whose mu-sic thee I'd die; I find that words will but con - ceal — What my like a spell, Could change to rap - ture e'en the words — Of our soul — would wish to sigh. Ah, — well - a - day! the sweet - est slow — and sad fare - well.

mel - o - dy Could nev - er, nev - er say one half my love for thee, Then let me si - lent - ly re - veal — What my soul — would wish to sigh.
